World Gourmet Summit April 2003 tbc (Every year)

The rising stars of the world gourmet scene descend on Singapore for an extravaganza of the best food and wine at the city's top hotels, as well as masterclasses and displays of culinary skill.

Appealing to both trade and consumers, the global approach to the World Gourmet Summit offers a range of events that will ensure taste buds work overtime. While the WGS Awards recognise and reward those setting the dining standards in Singapore, masterclasses at Sunrice cooking academy will give away some of the gurus' secrets. Guest chefs from around the world will grace the kitchens of the most prestigious hotels during this event.

For the ultimate dining experience it has to be Raffles Hotel, a landmark establishment with 113 years of history, the birthplace of the Singapore Sling. Raffles hosts Rocco DiSpirito, who is fast gaining a reputation as the rising chef star in New York after rave reviews. Watch out for the 'Godfather of Australian Cooks', Tony Bilson, at Hotel Inter-Continental, distinguished Austrian chef Reinhard Gerer at Grand Hyatt Singapore, South African Chef of the Month George Jardine at The Fullerton, passionate Italian master Claudio Sadler at Grand Copthorne Waterfront, So Kai Chiu, who leads the best restaurant in Hong Kong, at Conrad International, David Thompson, the Australian master in Thai cuisine at Four Seasons, German Paul Urchs at the Ritz-Carlton and Pacific Rim expert Roy Yamaguchi at Club Chinois. That's a lot of delicious food to try in four days!

The Masterchef Safaris are always a popular element of World Gourmet Summits, taking diners on a tour of restaurants. Wine lovers will be delighted to know that from 24-26 April the prestigious Grand Jury European wine tasting will showcase the much-awaited wines of the 1998 Bordeaux region at wine-tasting sessions. This will culminate in the ultimate decadence - the finest wine and food at Shangri-La Hotel.
