

Gourmet alert

MORE than 10 of the world's best known master chefs will be in Singapore to cook up a storm that will tempt taste buds next April at the World Gourmet Summit.

This is the sixth time Singapore is hosting the event, which will see the likes of Anton Mosimann from the UK, Ettore Bocchia from Italy, Harunobu Inukai from Australia, Marcus Samuelsson from the US, Philippe Legendre from France and Zhang Jie from China.

The World Gourmet Summit organiser, Mr Peter Knipp, doesn't believe you should live on bread – or rice – alone. He's introducing everything from wine-tasting classes to a Masterchef Safari, where you can wine and dine at some of the best restaurants in town.

Last year's summit won the International Festivals and Events Association's Grand Pinnacle Silver Award. – Channel NewsAsia
